ARBOR = Area with Restoration Benefits and Opportunities for Revitalization

ARBOR is an 11-mile restoration project that envisions 719 acres of restored riparian habitat in the heart of urban Los Angeles. The City, the Army Corps, and FoLAR agree that this stretch of the River is our primary opportunity to reconnect the people to nature, and deliver a new legacy to the future. Participate in FoLAR’s CRACK THE CONCRETE campaign to ensure ARBOR is implemented to maximize the benefits of public access and ecological restoration. Learn more at folar.org/advocacy-now

Los Angeles River Rec Zone
The Mountains Recreation and Conservation Authority (MRCA), with the support of LA City & County and the Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) manages the LA River Recreation Zone “open space” where the public is invited to walk, fish, and kayak the River from Fletcher Ave to Egret Park.

Starting points
North Atwater Creek
Elysian Valley

Griffith Park

Given as a land grant to the City of Los Angeles as a “place of recreation and rest for the masses,” Griffith Park is the largest municipal park with urban wilderness area in the US. Bordered by the LA River, the park houses Griffith Observatory, LA Zoo, Greek Theater, and Angeles as a “place of recreation and rest for the masses”, the Anza Trail.

The Juan Bautista de Anza National Historic Trail corridor follows the LA River and commemorates the 1775-1776 Spanish expedition to settle Alta California. Griffith Park is a relatively flat, 4-mile multi-use recreational trail.

Los Angeles River Recreation Zone
Open from Memorial Day to Labor Day for recreational activities such as walking, non-motorized, stand-up paddling, and fishing. See lariverrecreation.org for safety guidelines and the program’s rules and regulations before visiting. Please respect the neighborhood!

Because of its proximity, Atwater Village’s history has always been inextricably linked to changes in the LA River, from fertile cropland to flood control channel. Appropriately, Atwater Village has historically been home to passionate activists and artists looking to improve and protect their community.
