Dominguez Gap is an area in North Long Beach where two side-channel wetlands parallel the Los Angeles River. Though the River itself is contained in a concrete-lined channel, the constructed wetlands support seasonal bird populations, native plants, and natural treatment of stormwater runoff.

The Los Angeles River empties into the Pacific Ocean near Cesar Chavez Park and the Golden Shore Marine Reserve, a restored tidal wetland area. Its buildings echo the craftsman style common to historic homes in the neighborhood. The riprap embankments of the river, where it becomes very tidal, feature good bird-watching and cool ocean breezes.
